THE DIAL

See how many words of four or more letters you can “dial” using the one in the centre in each word.

Don’t use the letters more than once in any word.

THE NAME GAME

Each clue leads to a well-known name. Put the initials or stated letters in the appropriate squares to identify a British Paralympian.

1) Surname of the scientist made famous by the equation E=mc^2 (1st letter)
2) First name shared by painter da Vinci and actor DiCaprio (1st letter and last letter)
3) First name of the world’s most expensive footballer (1st and 4th letter)
4) The most commonly used letter in the English language
5) Initials of the domestic intelligence and security service of the United States (3rd initial)
6) _____ of Teck, wife of King George V and who the university is named after (1st letter)
7) Thin muscle that sits between the chest and the stomach, and that helps you to breathe properly (1st letter)

BRAIN BUSTERS

Mr Andrews taught me English. I got an A in History. Mrs Williams did not teach me French. I got a C in Mr Smiths class. I did better in Miss Banks class than in Mrs Williams. I did not get a D in English. I also took Maths. Overall I got on A, B, C and D. Which teacher taught which subject, and what grade did I get in each subject?

For my computing exam I had 2 hours plus half the time I had in my English exam. For my Drama exam I had 1 and a half times more time than I did in my Computing exam. In my Law exam I had the same time as the difference between my Drama and Computing exam plus the length of my English exam. In my English exam I had 1 hour. How long was each exam?

HIDDEN WORDS

Find the food or drink item hidden among each sentence:
1) Pippa started to dislike her early morning lectures after a few weeks.
2) I had a great day in London - I ate at a Nando’s and it was delicious.
3) Everyone was so upbeat when they finished their final exam.
